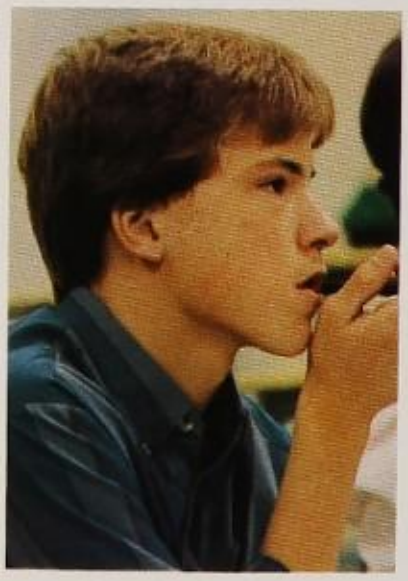
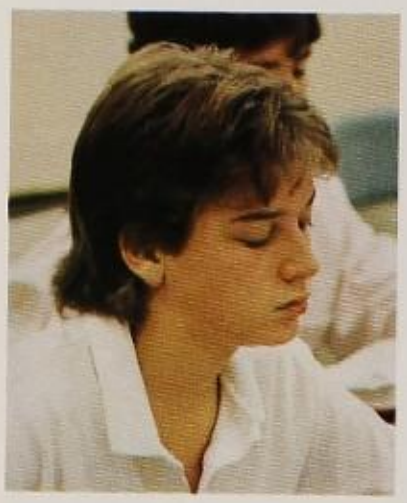
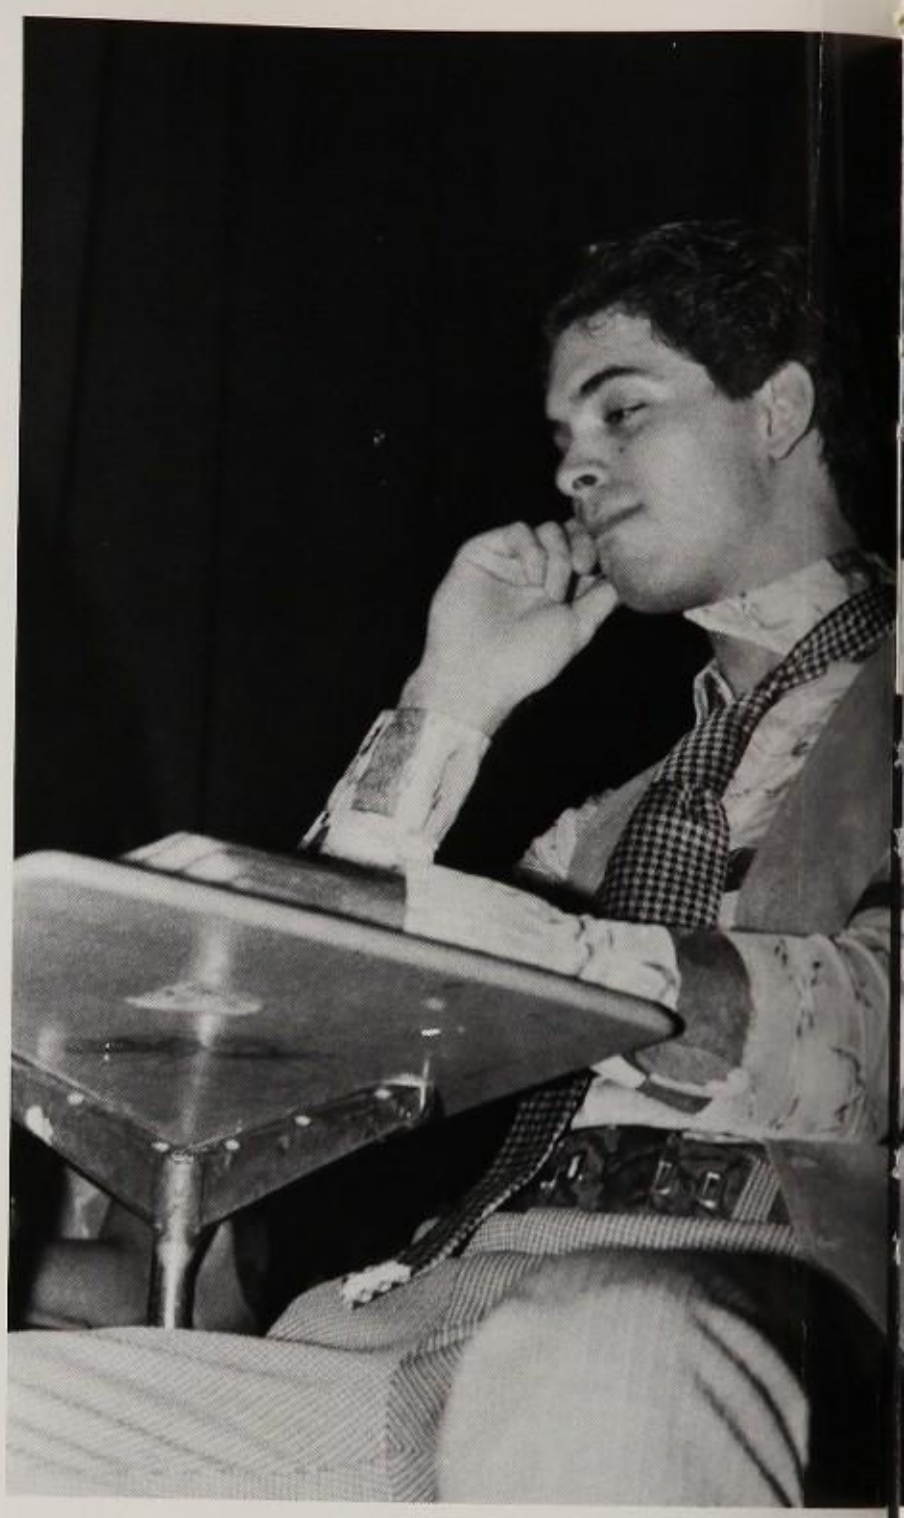
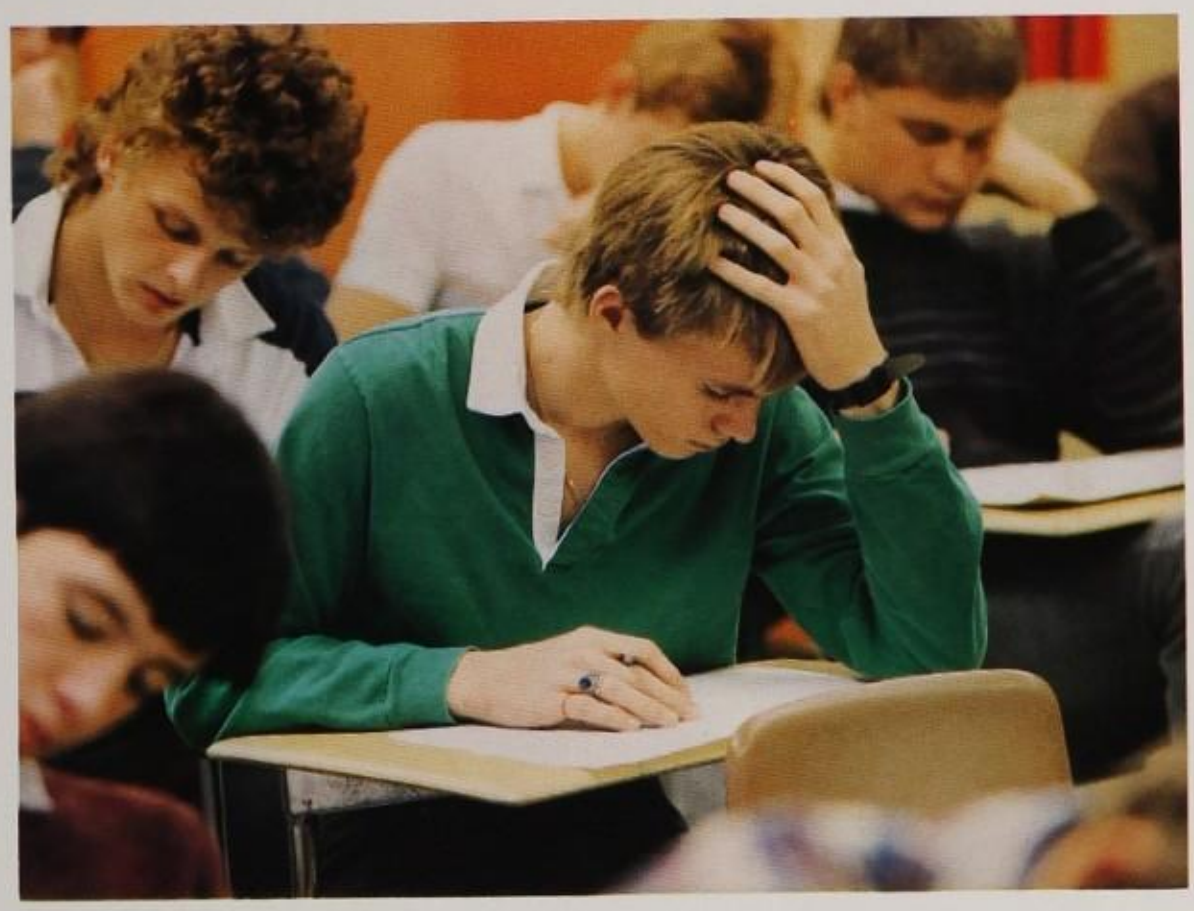
"The more something changes, the more it stays the same." This axiom held true for Archbishop Moeller HIgh School, 1986-1987. Moeller successfully made transitions in every aspect this year. But throughout these changes and transitions we kept a continuity in spirit and a consistency of pride.

Moeller made a major transition in its administration. The Moeller family welcomed our new principal, Bro. Joe Kamis and our two new deans, Mr. Dan Ledford and Fr. Tom Kreidler. The Family also welcomed numerous new teachers.

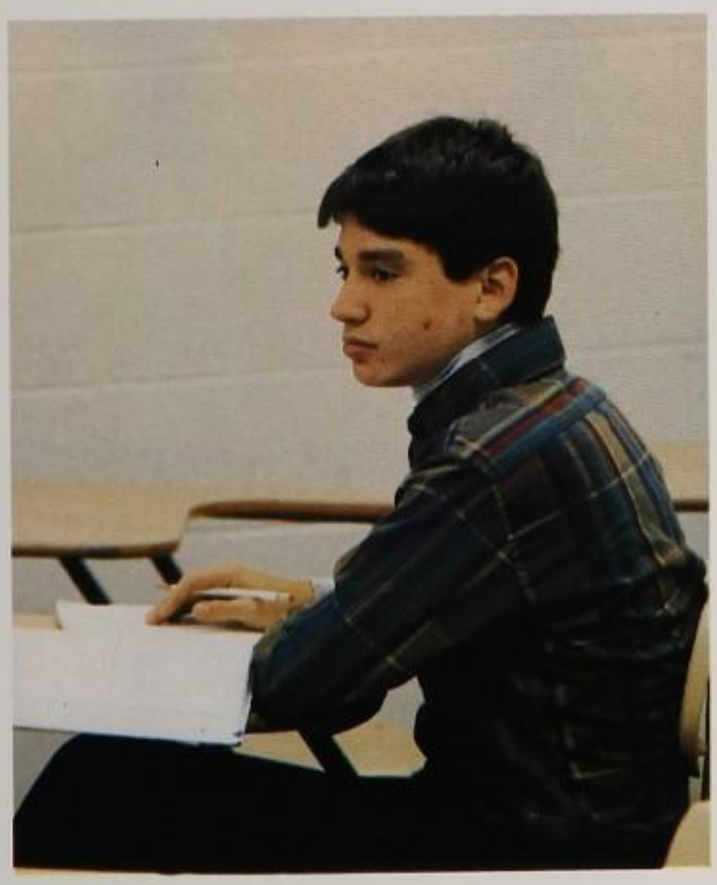


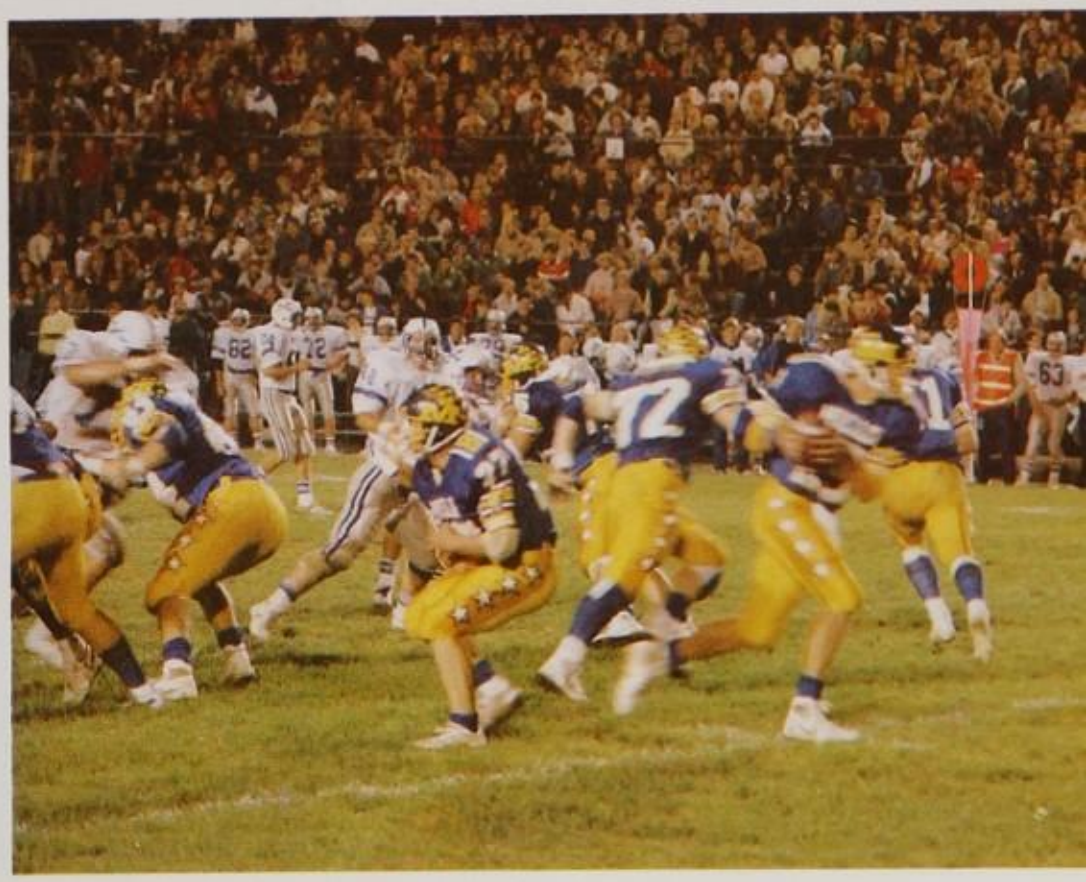




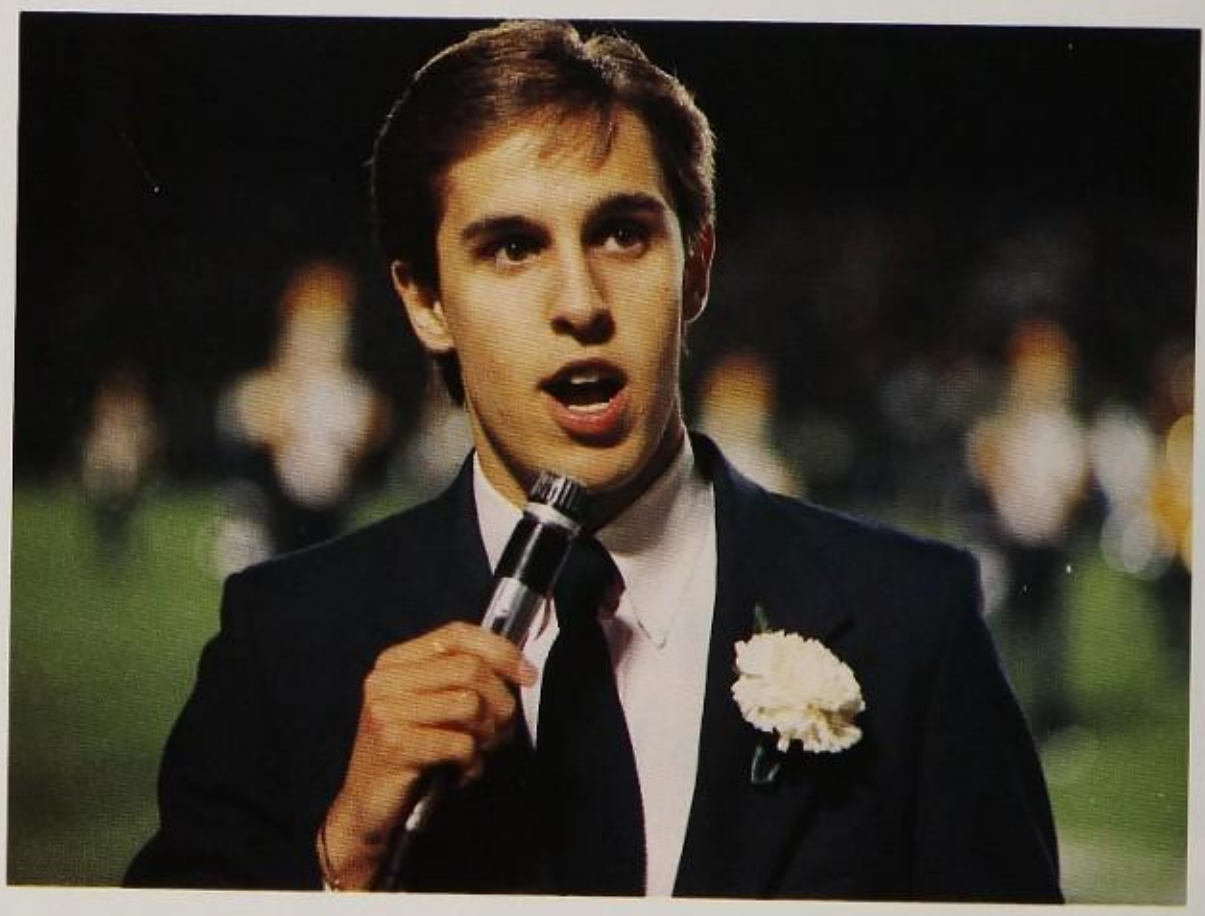


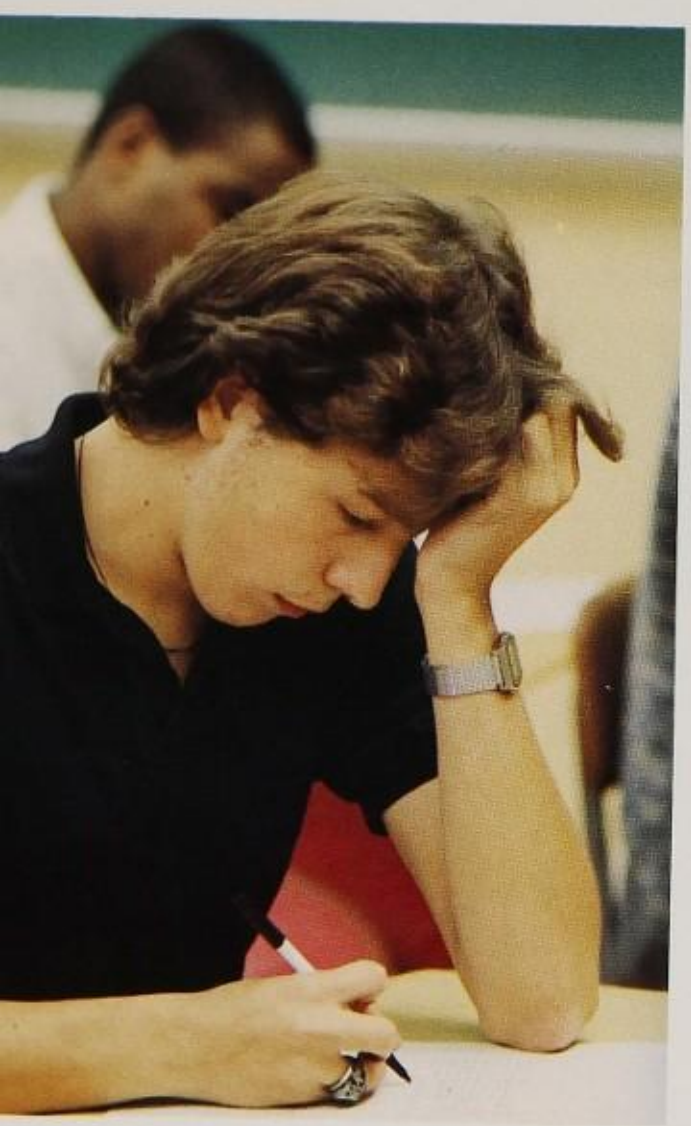
Transitions

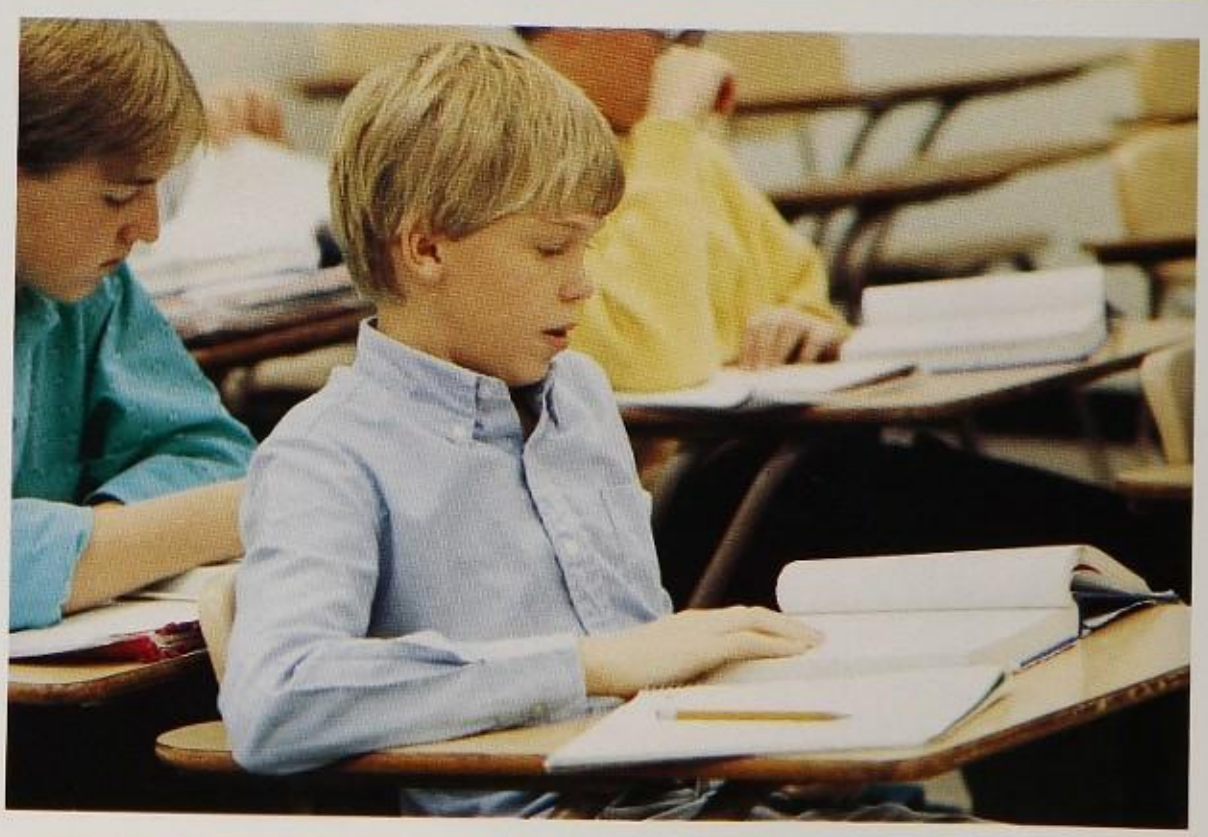




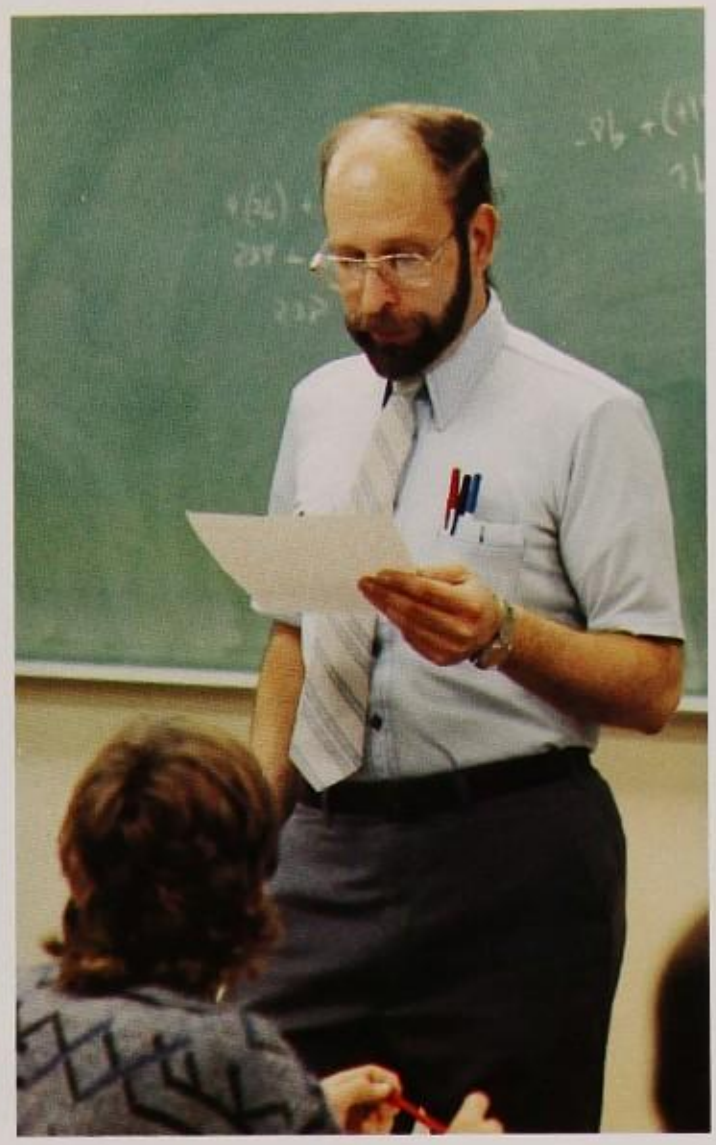
Transitions



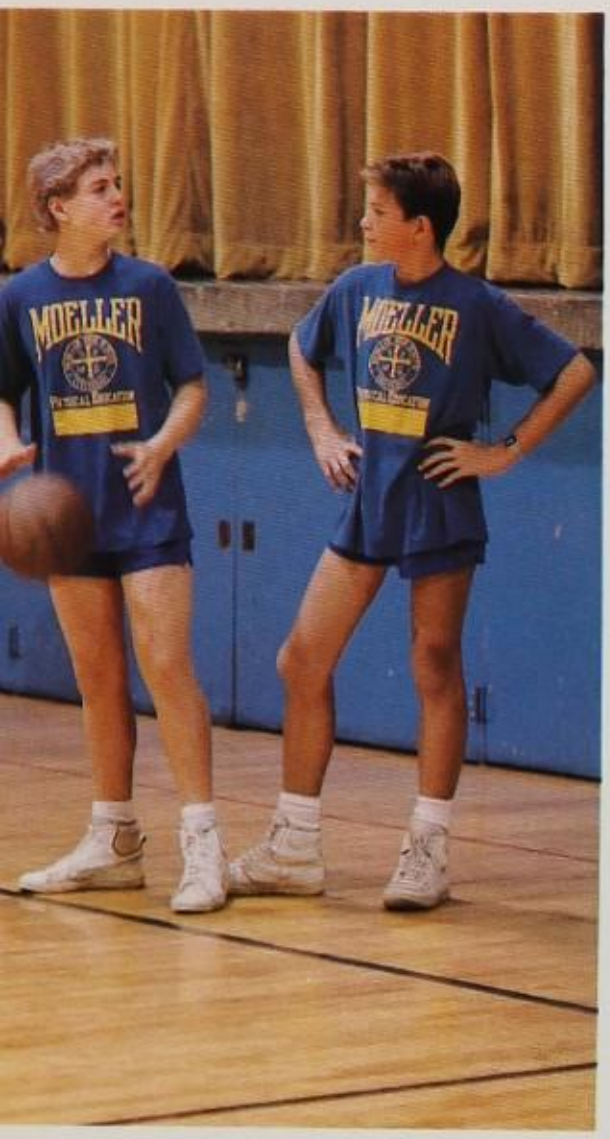


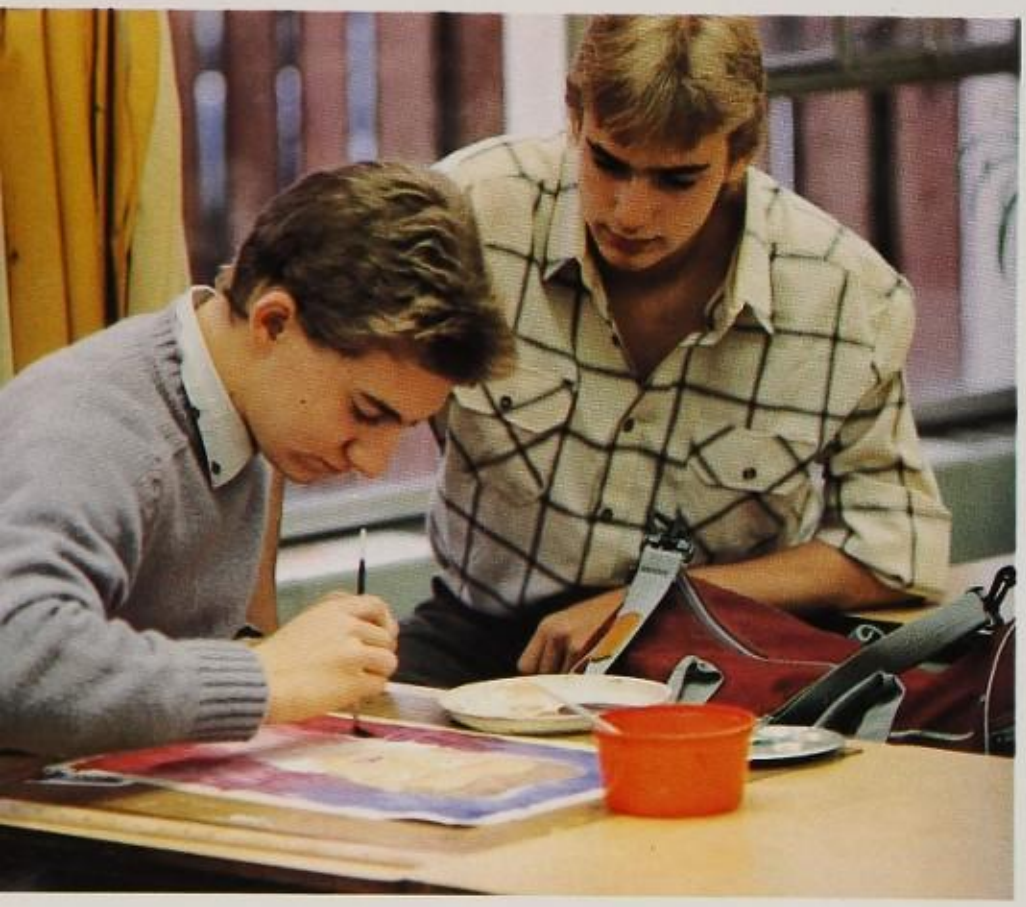


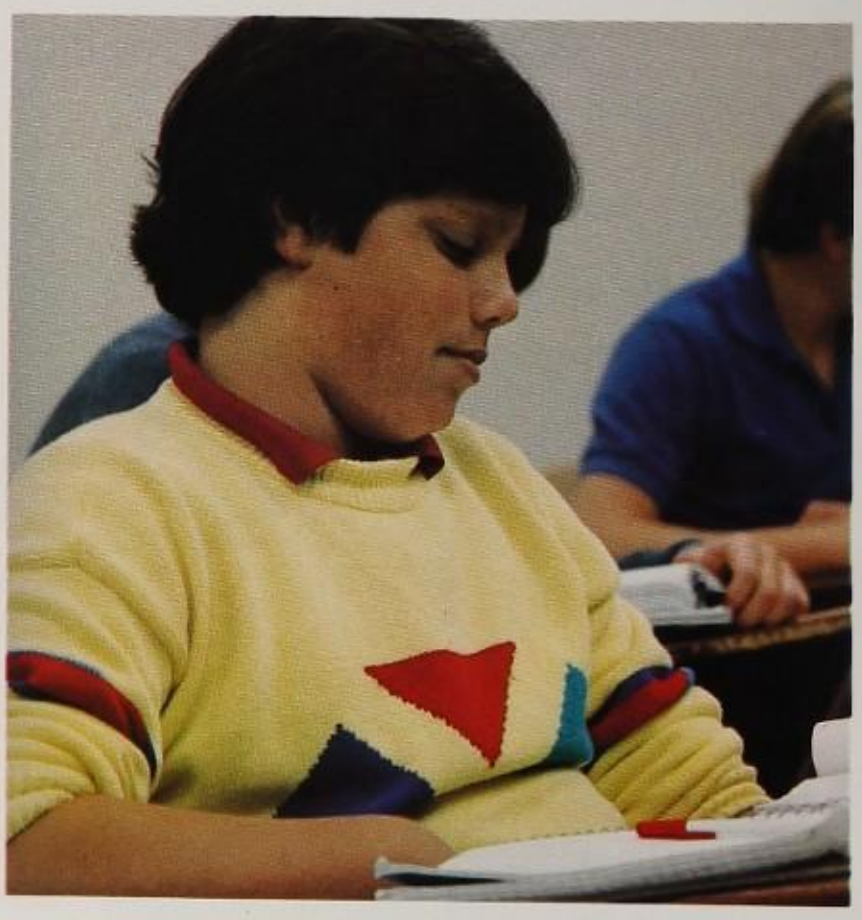
This new administration led us through many other transitions. New academic policies were put into effect to bring out the quality of our students. Physical appearances were altered slightly to restore a sharper image of the school. Older policies of diligence, committment and attitude were also reinforced.



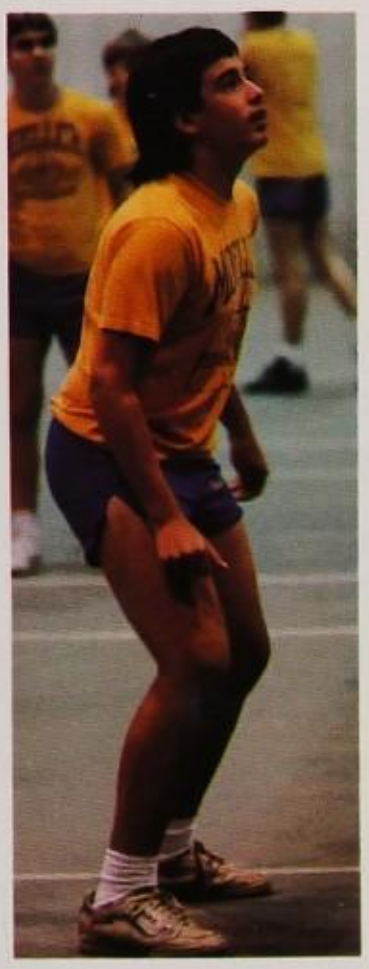
Transitions

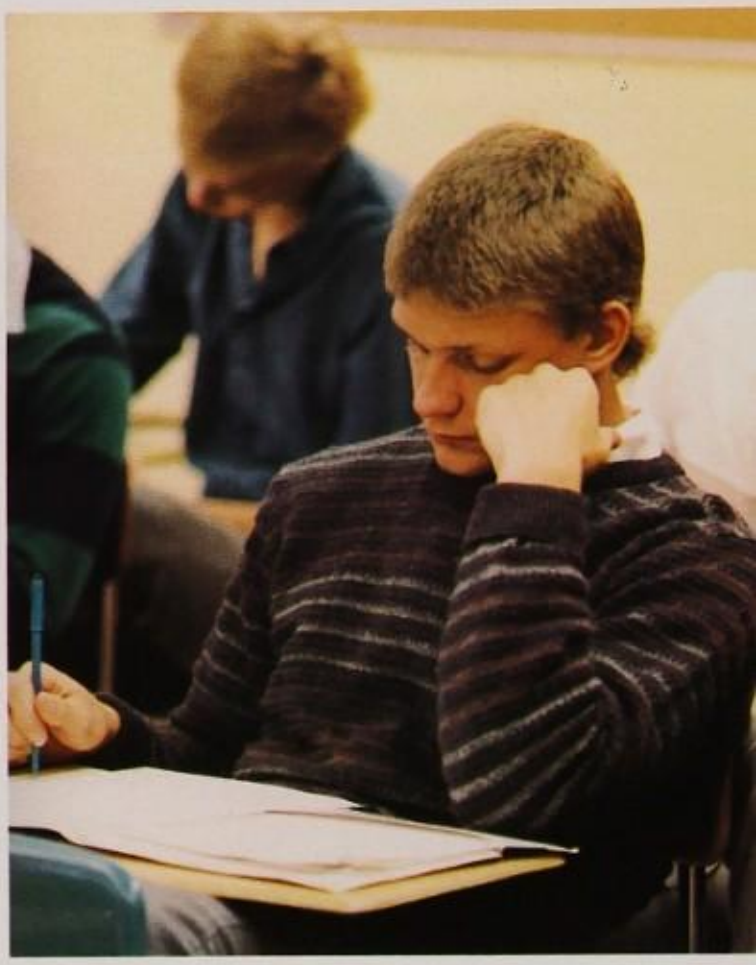






All four classes made their transitions with pride and style. Freshmen began a four year journey comfortably and easily, showing great promise and potential. A spirited sophomore class made the transition from newcomers to Men of Moeller with a strong sense of class unity. Juniors prepared themselves to assume the leadership of the school by setting examples for the underclassmen. The Senior Class of 1987 made their special transition from Men of Moeller to Men of the World. They made it by showing all of the Moeller qualities: leadership, responsibility, spiritual commitment, pride in performance and academic excellence.





The entire Moeller Family showed these qualities throughout ne year in our many activities. We were community examples in academics, religion, athletics, music, dramatics, and art. Our dent Government gave us strength and support in our four year transition. Our athletics held up our tradition of excellence on all levels. Our Marching Crusaders consistently put on good performances and won prizes in various competitions. Even our team of Model United Nations delegates was dedicated to, as noderator Fr. John Putka says, "spreading the power and glory of Moeller," as they debated in Dayton, Tampa, Florida and Washington, D.C.

oeller High School made changes and transitions in 1986-1987 while keeping its sense of pride and spirit. Again, we proved nat while things change, the Standard, as always, is Excellence.

HOMECOMING

Juniors And Seniors Rock The Night Away At Hall Of Fame

On November 10, 1986, at halftime of Moeller's eventual 27 to 17 defeat of St. Xavier, Dave Cain and his date were crowned King and Queen of the 1986 Homecoming Court. This year's Court was an excellent cross-section of Moeller students. All were proud and honored to be part of the Court, and the crushing of St. Xavier topped off a fun evening.

However, the next evening, November 11th, needed no topping off at all. Free Reins just about blew the top off the College Football Hall of Fame at the annual Homecoming Dance. The band, playing some hot rock 'n roll, rocked the crowd and rolled the tunes as 500 couples danced 'til midnight.

This was the first major event of the 1986-1987 school year and also the first formal dance for the junior class. The juniors, however, seemed like old hands at formal dances and almost taught the seniors a thing or two about partying. Those who chose not to party hard could cool off or cuddle with their dates on the outdoor patio.

Special thanks goes out to senior Greg van Praag for his excellent organization of this special night.

HOMECOMING

Gallenstein Activity Center Hosts Initial Soph-Frosh Bash

On November 11, 1986, while the upperclassmen partied at the College Football Hall of Fame, the underclassmen enjoyed the first annual Freshman-Sophomore Homecoming Festival.

The Festival, held in the Gallenstein Building, featured games, rides, music and refreshments for the younger Men of Moeller. The band, Crimson Harpoon, consisted of three Moeller juniors. Kip Sharp, Steve Bay, and Daren Dortin played Led Zepplin and other great rock for the freshmen and sophomores.

But perhaps the highlight of the evening was the dunking booth. The underclassmen had the pleasure of dunking such notables as Bro. Alex Tuss and Fr. Tedesco.

Although violently dunked by the frosh and sophs, Freshman Class Moderator Fr. Tedesco deserved much of the credit for this new Moeller tradition.

Mr. Bob Hotze's Rally Committee Has Another Outstanding Season

As always, this year's football pep rallies were spectacular. Mr. Bob Hotze and the rally committee mixed the right amount of music, slides, humor and mind blowing explosives to make all the rallies eagerly awaited events. Aided by the Marching Crusaders' gym filling sounds, the rallies were an excellent way to get psyched up for the big game.

Some highlights were: a skit featuring actors playing Bro. Flaherty, Mr. Crone and Mr. Borman when they were enrolled at Moeller; a senior class costume party before the Princeton game; and Fr. Putka as portrayed by senior Mike Munz.

The rallies were another opportunity for us to show our school support and unity. Our spirited yelling and cheering were also another way to display to the community our Moeller pride!

Renewed Spirit

Masses In Gym, Art Team Enhance Celebrations

The main reason Moeller exists is to further the worship of God. Our masses continued that spirit as we came together as a school and as a family. This year, the Masses went through transitions, much like every other aspect of the school.

One transition was the Christmas Mass. This celebration was held in the gymnasium and was enhanced by the Art Team's decorations. The Ash Wednesday mass was also held in the gym. A mass was also broadcast on television. Fr. Putka celebrated Channel 5's "The Sunday Mass". As with every mass, Fr. Putka had help from his students lectors, servers and Choir Homeroom.

U.N. POWER

Model U.N. Team Debates And Wins Across The USA

The Moeller Model United Nations team used its diplomatic powers to win awards and gain glory over and over again this year. The team traveled to Daytona Beach, Florida; the University of Dayton; Washington, D.C., and Tampa, Florida. Moderator, Father John Putka, was impressed with his delegates as they debated in simulations of the U.N.

The delegates represented countries as diverse as Argentina, the United Kingdom, the U.S.S.R., Libya, and Australia, as well as more obscure countries such as Fiji, Lesotho, Malta, Botswana, and Bangladesh.

At the Daytona Beach simulation, in November, Moeller won two awards. Senior Jeff Sefton won an honorable mention for his representation of the U.S.S.R., and junior Andy Kuchar won an honorable mention for his portrayal of Australia.

Moeller was one of only thirty-one schools across the nation to be invited to the prestigious Model Organization of American States. This event was held in Washington, D.C., in December, and the team of five seniors and five juniors debated in the actual O.A.S. building. While they didn't win awards, they did win praise from other delegates and from the faculty of the simulation. In addition, the delegates got the opportunity to meet the actual Argentine delegate to the O.A.S.

The team fared especially well in Tampa. It participated in the Suncoast Invitational Model U.N. The simulation was held at the University of South Florida. Senior Rob Siegel, junior Jim Schmitz, and freshman, Rob Faessler, all won Outstanding Delegate awards.

Dances Jam!

WEBN, Spectral Haze, Krank Rock Moe

Moeller's dances were a great way to spend a Saturday night with friends. The gym filled and the music played — LOUD —. The Student Government, which held the dances, tried a few new ideas this year. A Battle of the Bands was held between Krank and Spectral Haze. At one dance, two Moeller bands headlined and shared the stage. Other innovations were also tried and as usual the dances remained one of the Student Government's largest fundraisers.

Student Gov't

Hilvert Administration Carries On Traditions

The Student Government was one of the most active of all activities offered by Moeller. The Student Government gave students a chance to show leadership and to have a voice in school affairs.

What the Student Government especially was, was a serving body. The Student Government served the school and its fellow students. That service took many forms — the dances and proms, the Christmas tree sales, the food and clothing drives, the blood drives, public relations, student and spiritual welfare . . ., the list was endless.

The Student Government made its annual transition in May when the Government was turned over from John Hilvert to the new Student Government President, Joe Faessler. This new administration wishes to provide Moeller with the excellent leadership that it expects.

Founder's Day

Mr. Ledford Honored At Marianist Dinner

On January 24, 1987, the Marianists of Moeller and their guests celebrated Founder's Day with a dinner and a Mass. They gathered to celebrate the memory of Father William Joseph Chaminade, the founder of the Society of Mary. Also, they gathered to present the Founder's Day Award to "a person whose history of dedicated service to the Marianists and Archbishop Moeller High School reflects that of Father Chaminade." This year's award winner was the current Dean of Academics, Mr. Dan Ledford. Mr. Ledford joins a prestigious list of past Founder Award winners, such as Coach Gerry Faust, Mr. John Massarella, and Mrs. Hazel Wood. The award, a statue of the Blessed Virgin, was presented to Mr. Ledford by Father Joseph Tedesco at the dinner.

Main Event

Charity Auction Raises Money For Moeller

The Main Event Charity Auction, now in its second year, is one of the largest fund-raisers for Moeller High School. For the second year in a row it was a huge success.

The Auction was held April 25th and was entitled "Run for the Roses". The Gallenstein Center was transformed into a miniature Churchill Downs, complete with horses, "jockeys", music, food, and valuable prizes to bid on. Some of the more interesting prizes that were auctioned off were: a day on the bench with Judge Tim Hogan, two XU season basketball tickets an escort radar detector, and a dinner date with WKRP in Cincinnati's Gordon Jump.

The list of those who volunteered their services was enormous and reflective of the commitment and dedication of the parents and friends of Moeller High School. Special thanks went to General Chairmen Mark and Carol Manley and Fred and Nancy Habegger who worked alongside Ms. Rose Lusheck, Director of Development.

Spring Play

How To Succeed In Business Without Really Trying

A longstanding tradition of Moeller is the Spring Musical. This year's production was the lively comedy How To Succeed In Business Without Really Trying. The musical was directed by Mr. Bob Hotze. The work began in early February with auditions. Students from Moeller and girls from Mt. Notre Dame, Ursuline, St. Ursula, Indian Hill, and Sycamore read scripts and acted out improvisations before a casting committee made up of faculty.

After final cuts were made, the cast went through months of practices and rehearsals, learning song and dance steps for the production. This meant long, grueling hours spent at Moeller, often without leaving the school until late at night.

But personal sacrifices paid off on the nights of May 14, 15, 16, and 17. People filled the gym, the lights came up and the curtain opened. The story of Pierrepont Finch, the window-washer-turned corporate executive came to live. Joe Sagrati was spectacular as Finch. Deana Uhlenbroch of St. Ursula was excellent as Finch's love interest. Fine performances were also turned in by Terry King, John Belle, Laura Doerger of Ursuline Academy, Beth Engle of Mt. Notre Dame, Phil Holloway, Michelle Harmon of Indian Hill and the entire cast, stage crew, pit orchestra and lighting technicians.

Junior Prom

Juniors Shake The Good Shepherd Atrium

The Junior Prom went through a major transition this year — a change of venue. The Prom was held in the newly completed Good Shepherd Atrium on May 2nd. But, this transition changed nothing — the Prom remained a fabulous time for everyone.

Couples began arriving at 8:30 p.m. as the band, Suspect, began to heat up. The band played music by the Police, The Who, Phil Collins as well as classic rock such as the Moeller favorite Shout.

At 12:30 the faculty chaperones reluctantly ushered out the last few remaining couples, thus ending another successful Junior Prom. Much credit went to Junior Class President Joe Faessler and his prom committee.

Senior Prom

Grads-To-Be Celebrate At The Cincinnati Club

On May 1st the Seniors celebrated one of their last few times together as a class at the Cincinnati Club. The Senior Prom was a festive occasion helped along by Calibur's dance rhythms. The dance was well-attended as the Seniors showed up dressed to the nines, dates in hand.

The dance reflected the effort put in by Senior President Scott Schaffner and his Vice President and their committee.

Graduation

Year Of The Graduate

On June 4, 1987, the Men of Moeller became Men of the World as they graduated at Landmark Baptist Temple. The grads filed in, wearing their traditional caps and gowns, and left wearing smiles of gladness and tears of joy. To them, the diploma was more than a piece of paper but a statement, "I did it." or "Here I come world." or just "Whew!" were some. But, each statement was a personal one.

Valedictorian Steve Zegarski, and Salutatorian Mike Perry, gave speeches to the group. They spoke of the hope and promise for the future.

A major change occurred in Moeller's administration this year when Brother Joseph Kamis assumed the office of Principal. Brother Joe brought to the school new, fresh attitudes about students and academics. Behavior and appearance of both the school and the student body have already begun to change due to his efforts.

Mr. Daniel Ledford became Dean of Academics this year. He brought with him a tougher academic violation policy. He also initiated a program to use computers in the main office to facilitate many jobs.

The new Dean of Students, Father Tom Kreidler, also brought stricter, more traditional ideals to his job. His major goals were to increase students' personal responsibility and their awareness of others.

The senior class of 1987, led by its president, Scott Schaffner, and officers, Steve Schumacher and Josh Panarese, had a number of accomplishments of which to be proud.

Among these was its exceeding 200% as a division in the fall raffle — over 100% better than the previous year. The great success was attributed to the off-campus lunch incentive, which over half the class obtained.

Also, over $1,700 was raised in the class fund raiser, which involved the sale of Christmas wrapping paper. This was the most profitable fund raiser of all four divisions.

A number of seniors contributed to the spirit for sports activities in such ways as the large weather balloons flown over the school for the St. X game, the dress-up Halloween rally for the Princeton game, and the Hawaiian night for the Alter basketball game.

A new senior class activity was the Blue Ash YMLCA all-night lock-in. The class rented the Y for this activity and spent the night swimming, playing basketball, raquetball, volleyball, and watching movies.

Also planned were a raquetball and golf outing. The Senior Prom took place on May 1 at the Cincinnati Club.

The entire class is commended for its efforts and progress.

The Junior Class Of 1988

The 1988 junior class was much busier than it had been in its freshman and sophomore years! With the eager help of divisional moderator, Carl Kremer, the class fund raiser (a sale of M & M's) was, unlike the previous year's cheese and sausage sale, a great success. The Prom was held at the new facility at Good Shepherd on Saturday, May 2.

buying of Valentines and flowers for "sweethearts" at Mt. Notre Dame and Ursuline. It was very popular and may continue in the future.

Finally, several juniors approached the Student Government with new ideas, such as having dances after home basketball games and issuing student I.D. passes. These proposals may be acted upon in the coming year.
